Charity Event

On 22nd of October we all gathered together at The Den to witness Millwall vs West Bromwich Albion match. We want to thank the participants once again; it was great to see everyone.

Regal Elevators were our co-sponsor for the day's match which was hosted in support of The Little Havens Hospice in Benfleet. This charity offers support to families and children in their last days together and for this cause we managed to raise a record sum of £3,350 thanks to everyone's generosity. Judy Grocott is the spokesperson for the charity and received the funds raised during the match.

We cannot express our gratitude enough and are looking forward to next year's meet-up.

We at PEW Electrical Distributors advocate for safe and healthy environment. To get more resources and guidance we have joined The Lift Industry Mental Health Charter together with many others. During the match we encouraged all of you to join us in this movement. If you have not had the chance yet, you may read about it at liftmentalhealthcharter.com

The charter's founder Mark Harding has many plans and hopes for the future. When asked about the aspirations and goals, he has responded with:

"For the remainder of 2022 we aim to gain as much support as possible for the charter and hopefully add lots more company logos to our website. Currently we have 32 companies who have supported the charter. We would also like to set up a podcast where we discuss various aspects of the lift industry and the impacts on your health."

In 2023 we will be looking for sponsorship which will enable us to hold a lift industry wellbeing event and mental health courses for supporters of the charter. There has also been some discussion around a walk-up Snowdon to help to raise money for the charter. The main objective is to keep mental health highlighted 365 days a year and not for just one day or month."

If you are looking for a budget upgrade to your lift communications look no further than the newly-released VEGA 4G VoLTE unit.
